

NOT ONE GOOD CLUE.

Detectives All at Sea in the Susie Martin Case.

Figuring Now that a Breweryman Was Concerned in It.

Burial of the Mutilated Corpse in Calvary.

If the mutilated trunk of the child found in the cellar of 517 West Thirty-ninth street is not that of eleven-year-old Susie Martin, as is believed by the officers and many others, at all events it was buried this forenoon in Calvary Cemetery under the name of Susie Martin. The corpse was taken from the Morgue at 9:30 o'clock this morning, and was followed by a single coach containing the parents of the girl and two friends.

Detectives Valley, Armstrong and Rogers were stationed on the northeast corner of Thirty-ninth street and Tenth avenue this morning. This is directly opposite Stevenson's brewery. The detectives seem to think they can get some clue regarding the murder from the brewery. The rear windows of the brewery look directly upon the yard, from which an entrance to the cellar may be gained.

Detectives Valley, Armstrong and Evanhoe were busy at the various dumps in and about the neighborhood. None of them, however, had anything of value to offer in the way of brushing up the mystery. When interrogated they could only reply: "We haven't found anything yet."

Attention is now being directed towards the sewers in the neighborhood. This is for the purpose of discovering the missing head, arms and legs of the butchered child.

One detective argued that if this crime was the work of a Chinaman, he would have made a complete job of it. He made a statement to the effect that if this statement was published in all the papers in the world, it would be impossible for him to find the body of the child. He made this statement on Sunday morning and is now being kept in custody.

When Magee was taken to the Oak street morgue on the night of the tragedy, he made a statement to the effect that he had been in the cellar of 517 West Thirty-ninth street on Sunday morning and had seen the body of the child. He made this statement on Sunday morning and is now being kept in custody.

The mystery of the box of cartridges has been cleared away as a result of the investigation. The box was found on Wednesday of the dealer's private marks found on the cartridges.

EX-CHIEF CASH ACQUITTED.

Not Guilty, the Jury Says, of the Murder of Cleary.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 23.—The jury in the case of Patrick Cash, formerly Chief of Police of Williamsburgh, who was tried for the killing of James Cleary, during a fight at a special election in Williamsburgh about a year ago, came into the Westernchester County court room this morning with a verdict of acquittal. The jury of 12 men and 2 women, after a trial of 10 days, returned this verdict.

Cash left the court room at 11:30 and boarded a train for New York. He was accompanied by several of his friends. Judge Glynn was displeased with the verdict.

SUICIDE AT SEA.

Kerkhoff Jumped from the Stuttgart While Insane from Drink.

The North German-Lloyd steamship Stuttgart came up to her dock in Hoboken this morning, minus one of her passengers, who had committed suicide on the voyage.

The Stuttgart left Bremen March 8. Among her steerage passengers was Baay Kerkhoff, forty years old, a native of East Prussia, Germany, who was employed as a sailor on the ship.

During the voyage Kerkhoff drank heavily, and on March 15 he was seized with delirium tremens. He was suddenly rushed on deck, and before any one could prevent him, leaped overboard.

As soon as possible the ship was stopped and put about. No trace of the body could be found, however, and the Stuttgart proceeded on her voyage.

Some Lenten Observance.

"I think everybody should observe Lent properly," said Mrs. McFarland. "Yes," replied her son Thomas, a young society man; "if a young man serves Lent properly he can lay up enough money to buy a spring suit."

"Yes," put in Mr. McFarland, "most young gentlemen of the present day would rather go to the office for a suit of clothes if it was not Lent."

WAS THE ALARM GIVEN AT ONCE?

the floor above, directly over the room where the shooting occurred, is the only witness who heard anything that resembled a pistol shot. His idea is that a crack or tap on the steam pipe running up and through his office was the noise occasioned by the bullet striking the steam pipe in the office below. He says this noise occurred a few moments before Magee rushed into the hall for assistance.

Considering the fact that Nassau street is narrow and noisy, and that the steam pipe in Kierman's room could have snapped or cracked from pressure of a dozen other causes, his evidence is very insufficient and almost worthless in a legal sense.

At any time between 5:15 and 5:45, a full half hour, and in this long interval before Magee gave the alarm many things could have happened.

A time schedule based upon these new discoveries throws considerable light on the case, and may eventually tend to clear up the mystery.

EDITOR MOST'S DOWNCAST.

Anarchists in This Country Should Return to Europe.

Americans Don't Take Kindly to the Doctrine of Violence.

Herr Johann Most, the Apostle of Discontent, the High Priest of Anarchy, and the Prophet of Disaster is downcast. His sleeve of care in strongly knitted clouds of trouble furrow up his brow.

In a four-column editorial in this week's issue of Freiheit, Editor Most sums up the Anarchistic situation in the most glowing fashion, and winds up by advising his followers to "back up this cause in the country, to continue your labors in Europe, even if you have to travel over the ocean in cat-skin or in iron bunkers."

Herr Most adds, with distressing sadness, that he would have returned to Europe long ago if he only knew where to go and not be put back behind prison bars.

The cause of the distinguished Anarchist, the Prophet of Disaster, is downcast. His sleeve of care in strongly knitted clouds of trouble furrow up his brow.
